

Question Two On Night Club Holdup

DEFENDS HIMSELF—FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack prepares to defend himself before a House Commerce Subcommittee against charges of improper conduct. He told newsmen "I certainly have no intention of resigning." Mack denied under oath charges that his vote, in a Miami TV award, was influenced by money and friends. (NEA Telephoto)

Efforts Still Underway to Reopen Brick Plant

MAIL: "Dear Sir: I am a regular reader of your column and the paper. It is most important for this area to obtain industry such as a rubber plant. However there is another industry and though small is important to about 25 men.

"I have a feeling that the brick yard is on its way out. I have not been aware of much interest shown up to now in this company. (Most of what I know, I read in the paper.)

"I do not have any idea that an outburst of local interest would save this very small industry. But it is industry and isn't that what you—and all of us—are wanting for this community?"

"Sure don't think some active interest would do any harm right here in our own back yard. "Yours for industry—big or small!"

I was glad the above letter came. hTe brick yard hasn't been lost, from what I've been told. It's true, I'm afraid, all the talk recently has been about getting something big—like the rubber plant—and this issue isn't dead yet.

But the brick plant matter has been chiefly a matter of financing and I understand that progress is being made. Working on a plan of finance does not make for reading, and I hope that before too long we can announce that this has been worked out.

I've heard that the owners right now have the matter before the Small Business Administration, and if this agency sees eye to eye with the owners, financing, partially by the SBA and part locally, could be arranged.

THIS DEPARTMENT has a strong policy against printing poetry but the following I'm not going to regard as poetry, although the writer signs himself as "Dog-gone Poet!" SaSys Dog-gone Poet:

"Dear Tim: I saw a few men including you at the Dog Sale and I was inspired by: I've seen many a brave and glorious deed; men in danger and they paid no heed; but here's an orchid to the bravest male—he who dares attend a Dog Day sale."

See, that isn't poetry.

Five Bandits Sought for Raid Near Cairo

Rocky Rothschild And Marshall Man Questioned

CAIRO, Ill. (U) — An ex-convict and an ex-policeman were questioned today about the holdup of a plush night club north of here.

Three states maintained an alert for the five bandits who staged the raid early Thursday.

Harold E. Fields, 41, Marshall, Ill., was picked up on a vagrancy charge here for questioning in the robbery. Deputy Sheriff Buck Self said he was an ex-convict.

Paducah, Ky., authorities held Charles (Rocky) Rothschild, 34, a former policeman at Cairo, on burglary charges brought in Georgia and South Carolina.

Both faced interrogation in the pre-dawn robbery of the swanky Thunderbird Club in which 40 patrons were held hostage for two hours.

The loot from customers alone was estimated at more than $3,500 in cash and jewelry. Club owner John Wilson said he would take inventory before stating how much was taken from the club's safe.

A three-state alarm through Illinois, Missouri, and Kentucky was issued for the five well-dressed bandits who took over the club with a submachine gun and revolvers at about 2 a. m. Thursday.

While two men ordered drinks at the bar, the other three mixed with the crowd, then announced "This is a stickup."

Several of the gunmen robbed the patrons while Wilson was ordered to open the safe. He was slugged on the head when he hesitated.

After looting the customers, the bandits ordered a "drink on the house" and waited for two hours, fleeing four more late arrivals.

On their departure, they slashed telephone and power lines and ripped a tire on each of the 30 parked cars outside. A customer walked to another night club to telephone the alarm.

The Thunderbird is one of the newest and most luxurious night clubs in this southern Illinois area at the junction of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

DAVID NELSON, who has received a fine scholarship to an eastern prep school. (Ronnie's Studio Photo)

David Nelson, HTHS Junior, Gets Scholarship

David Nelson, Harrisburg Township high school junior, has received a valuable scholarship to Philip's Exeter Academy at Exeter, N. Y.

The scholarship to this eastern prep school is for two years and is valued at $1,600 per year.

Young Nelson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Nelson of this city, applied for the scholarship through one of the Evansville newspapers. He took an achievement test, got local recommendations, and the scholarship was based on his scholarship and character.

The local youth is regularly listed on the Harrisburg Township high school honor roll.

He plans to enter the school next September, taking senior high school subjects his first year and advanced courses the next term.

Scholarship Program Set Up by Stonefort Corp.

The Stonefort Corporation, owners of the Will Scarlett mine near Stonefort, has established a scholarship program in engineering at University of Illinois. Donald A. Grossman, director of undergraduate scholarship program, announced today.

The first scholarship provides $500 for an initial year of study and will be renewed for three additional years if the recipient maintains a superior record and continues in one of the approved curricula.

Areas of study can be mechanical, electrical, civil, mining, or general engineering. Applicants must have ranked in the upper one-third of their high school graduating class. Preference will be given to sons of employees of the company and to graduates of high schools in Saline and Williamson counties.

The Stonefort Corporation proposes to start additional new four-year scholarships each two years, 1960, 1962, 1964, and on.

Applications for this and other undergraduate scholarships at University of Illinois are now being accepted at the Office of Admissions and Records, 100a Administration Bldg. (W), Urbana, Ill.

U. S. Steel Head Charges Senate Report on Pricing is 'Distorted'

WASHINGTON (U) — The head of U. S. Steel Corp., charged today a Senate subcommittee majority report calling for an investigation of steel pricing was "thoroughly biased and distorted."

Roger M. Blough said, however, that the report of the majority on the seven-man antitrust and monopoly subcommittee "comes as no surprise."

The report said the government should investigate possible antitrust violations by steel producers. It charged $6 a ton increases in steel prices last year were not justified because they "substantially exceeded" increases in production costs.

It also criticized steel industry management for what it called a lack of "responsible leadership."

In a statement Blough said the subcommittee followed a "peculiar procedure" under which Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) "invites" you to testify and then issues a flood of statements to the press denouncing the character, motives and antecedents of your business.

Blough charged that Kefauver began last year's hearings with a statement pronouncing the steel industry "guilty of all kinds of unsavory practices." Later, he said, the chairman promised "in a friendly manner" the subcommittee would conduct an unbiased investigation.

But when the "true facts" were presented, they were "ignored or misused," Blough said, and Kefauver and his staff produced a report confirming the "preconceived notions" in the opening statement.

Referring to the charge that steel price boosts "substantially exceeded" increases in production costs, Blough said the only "competent" testimony during the hearings showed that price increases "did not even cover the cost increases."

He added that the testimony also showed that without the price hikes a continuing rise in costs would have eliminated U. S. Steel's profits and all the money it pays the federal government in income taxes in "a little more than two years."

Might Lick Re-Entry Problem

Thor Missile, Carrying New Nose Cone is Successfully Launched

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (U) — A Thor intermediate range missile, carrying a new nose cone designed to return a nuclear warhead from space and smash an enemy target, was launched with a mighty blast today.

The new technique, although perfected for military purposes, also might lead to licking the re-entry problem of a man-made satellite.

The trim missile, its blunt and rounded nose cone glinting in the bright morning sun, blasted up from the Cape Canaveral launch site a few minutes after 8 a. m. A great cloud of smoke and fire boiled up from the launching pad.

The missile slashed through a layer of clouds after 40 seconds of flight but was visible again for about 20 seconds before it disappeared, trailing vapor, behind more clouds.

The Air Force announced only that the Thor was fired and said nothing about the success or failure of the flight or how far the Thor went.

In previous flights a Thor is reported to have flown some 2,600 miles, although it is designed only as a 1,500-mile range ballistic missile.

The Air Force said "the nose cone used in today's test was different from those previously used."

The nose cone was much flatter and was designed to solve the problem of re-entering the atmosphere.

The advantage of a blunt nose cone is that it spreads out the tremendous heat accumulated as the warhead streaks down at many times the speed of sound from high above the atmosphere.

There was only a dummy warhead in today's missile.

Heavy winds Thursday and Wednesday forced postponement of the Navy's Vanguard satellite carrier launching until next week.

But the sturdier Army Redstone missile was launched Thursday. The Redstone, fueled with the new compound, apparently flew successfully to its target down-range in the Atlantic.

The fuel is called hydyne and was announced for the first time when used in the Jupiter C satellite launcher which flung the Explorer into orbit Jan. 31.

Senior Class Play, 'Drums of Death,' At HTHS Tonight

"Drums of Death" will be presented as the Senior play in the Bonnell gymnasium tonight, beginning at 8:15.

"Drums of Death," says Miss Mari Buchman, director and sponsor, "is the first mystery presented here in a long time. Usually the kids choose a comedy."

In the play, the girls are called to visit their grandfather, who is supposedly on his deathbed. When they arrive, however, he is missing and they have a real time trying to find him. "The whole play is a riot, despite the mystery and seriousness," declares Miss Buchman. "It is well worth your while to see."

The cast is as follows: Eddie Price, Harley; George Wright, Cameron; Roger Wiley, the sheriff; Bill Endsley, Jules; Karen Skaggs, Eugenia; Linda Rude, Mrs. Gillette; June Stone, Paula Bailey; Carolyn Neft, Mrs. Oakley; Georgianne Tanner, Amelia; Jane Capel, Celeste.

Tickets are on sale for students at 35c and adults 50c; reserve seats are 60c. However, at the door, all regular seats will be 50c, and reserved seats will still be 60c.

City Clerk Office to Remain Open Saturday For Absentee Voting

City Clerk Olive Patterson today announced that she would be in her office in the city hall all day Saturday to take care of persons who wish to vote absentee in the special city election March 11.

The water department will be closed for the day, as is usual on Saturdays.

Mrs. Patterson pointed out for the benefit of residents who work out-of-town and come home on week-ends that tomorrow will be the final Saturday to vote absentee for the elections.

Mack Says He Will Consider Resigning Post

WASHINGTON (U) — Federal Communications Commissioner Richard A. Mack said today he would "seriously consider" demands that he resign.

Mack heretofore has insisted he had "no intention" of quitting his FCC post in the face of charges—which he has denied—that he let money and friends influence his commission decisions.

But today he appeared shaken in his resolve after Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.) joined other members of a House investigating subcommittee in telling the commissioner he should resign.

Harris, whose group has been hearing Mack's testimony the past two days, said the commissioner has been "used" by his friends. He told Mack, "you are to be pitied." But he said that if Mack did not submit his resignation President Eisenhower—who appointed him to the FCC—should immediately request it.

Mack, obviously moved, said he would "seriously consider" Harris' suggestion that he quit.

With that, Mack asked that the hearing be recessed until next Wednesday, when he presumably will give his answer. The subcommittee agreed to the recess.

DECATUR, Ill. (U) — William Munson, 58, was killed in a freak accident today when his shotgun discharged as he tossed it into the rear seat of his automobile.

Nixon Supports Civilian Control Over U. S. Exploration of Space

WASHINGTON (U) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon today placed the administration solidly behind civilian control over the exploration of space.

At the same time Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy said he can't see any military advantage in hitting the moon with a rocket—but his department will try it before "too long."

Missile expert Krafft A. Ehrlicke, speaking at the Air Force jet age conference, proposed construction of a "chemo-nuclear" powered space ship weighing 900 tons that could be launched from the earth by 1970 to land on the moon and circle Mars.

Ehrlicke said his freighter-sized space vehicle was dependent upon the Atomic Energy Commission coming up with a system of feeding liquid hydrogen to a rocket engine which has a nuclear pile as its energy source.

In Apparent Contradiction

"It is important," Nixon said "that our own outer space development be under the control of a civilian agency because control of space development by a military agency can only mean that peaceful exploration of space will be some a minor role."

McElroy told Congress the De-

18 to 24 Pupils, Driver Killed; 12 Are Saved

Bus Hits Wrecker At Crash Scene, Drops Off Cliff

PRESTONBURG, Ky. (U) — A loaded school bus plummeted over a 50-foot bluff into the Big Sandy River today, with 18 to 24 children and the driver apparently killed or drowned.

Twelve children escaped from the bus and were rescued.

The tragedy occurred on U. S. 23 about three-miles south of here this morning when the bus driver John Derossett, 22, tried to avoid an automobile wrecker and a half-ton truck which had skidded into a ditch on the right side of the road.

Kentucky state trooper Bill Ly-can said the school bus glanced off the left rear corner of the wrecker and careened across the highway, striking the shoulder of the road and a parked car.

The bus teetered sickeningly on the edge of the bluff for a moment, then rolled over and down into the Levisa fork of the Big Sandy, swollen some 20 feet above normal stage by recent heavy rains.

Lycan said the bus did not sink immediately, and some of the children escaped through the emergency door, which Derossett apparently was able to open.

Donald Horn, driver of the bus wrecker, got on top of the bus and helped several children get out until the bus sank out of sight in the swirling water.

James Green, chairman of the Floyd County School Board, said he believed 23 children and the driver were dead. Prestonburg High School Principal James B. Vollen issued a list of 16 high school and four grade school children unaccounted for and believed to have been on the bus.

It was possible that some may have missed the bus, and also possible that others not listed were on it.

The river was being dragged and diving equipment was sent to the scene, but the bus had not been located several hours after the accident.

The children who survived were taken to nearby homes, and it is not known how many were injured or how seriously.

Optimistic Forecast

Editorial — BY BRUCE BOSSAT
With economic levels in the United States still receding, a forecast of great business expansion sounds a welcome tune, even though it deals with the long and not the short range prospect.

Such a prophecy has been made by the Committee for Economic Development, one of the ablest and most thoughtful economic research groups in the nation. Some 150 business executives and scholars help to frame CED's recommendations.

The CED predicts that by 1975 the average income of U. S. families after taxes will come to at least $7,100, as against $5,300 today. The total gross national product, sum of all our goods and services, should rise to 725 billion dollars a year from the present level of in excess of 415 billion.

What this means is that in the next 17 years American families on the average will ADD to their disposable income an amount exceeding what they spend today on two basic items—food and clothing.

True to its thoughtful form, however, the CED points out in its recent study of the economy that the looked-for expansion is not an automatic thing, not an advantage we can have without lifting a finger.

Says the CED: "Only if we manage our economic affairs with intelligence can we expect such a 'good life' on the material side, shared among the entire population."

Millions of daily private decisions are the key, it adds. As all of us stand to benefit from so great an enlargement of the economy, so all of us are required to contribute.
It matters not whether our share is large or small. What does count is that we make wise and energetic effort.

What do we need to foster the immense growth foreseen by these specialists? In their view:

A higher level of business management, continuous investment to provide the financial underpinning of expanding enterprise, individual savings to support that investment, more education and development of skills to fit the nation's manpower for the greater tasks ahead, better people in government, and fuller public understanding of government activities.

A large order, obviously. But the men in CED, like many in America, have confidence that the people of this country, by their combined wisdom and effort, can fill it and make this bright vision of 1975 come true.

Airman Courageous

No nation has yet sent a human being aloft into space, but the United States has, now successfully demonstrated that a man can exist for at least a week under the kind of conditions which he would find on such a venture.

The Russians may have acquired valuable information on this score from the dog it sent aloft in Sputnik II. A dog is not a man, but many reactions are similar.
And that animal actually rode in a space vehicle orbiting around the earth at 17,000 miles an hour.

Airman Donald Farrell's experience was simulated, for he never left the ground as he lived for a week in a sealed three-by-five steel chamber. But since this "guinea pig" was really human, we may have learned a great deal more than did the Russians with their seemingly bolder experiment.

Americans offer their congratulations and warm thanks to young Farrell for having the willingness and the courage to submit himself to this arduous test in the interest of the advance both of science and of his country's safety and welfare.

WASHINGTON. — Ex-President about his protocol problems when he dedicated his library in Missouri.

"I had the ex-President of the United States, Mr. Hoover, as my guest," he explained. "I also had the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the majority leader of the Senate, the minority leader of the House.

"And I didn't know what precedence to give them or how to handle them. So I wrote Mrs. Helm and asked what I should do."

He referred to Mrs. Edith Helm, social secretary and arbiter of the White House during the Truman administration.

"What do you suppose she wrote back to me?" continued Mr. Truman. "She said, 'You never paid any attention to protocol while you were President, why should you worry about it now?'"

KINDNESS PAYS OFF
You can never tell when a good deed is going to come home to roost; or so Dr. Haim Sheba famed Israeli medical expert found when he visited New York the other day.

Dr. Sheba, director of the Tel Hashomer hospital in Tel Aviv, has been working on some fascinating blood history which goes back to the lost tribes of Israel.
When he asked funds from the Rockefeller Foundation to help his research, they asked him to talk to Dr. Ruggero Ceppellini.

The learned Israeli doctor thought he was getting the run-around, but shortly thereafter Dr. Ceppellini a young and stocky Italian bounced into his hotel room.
"Don't you remember me?" he asked.

Dr. Sheba admitted he didn't.
"I was your prisoner," said Dr. Ceppellini. "I was your prisoner of war. I was in the Italian army during the war, taken prisoner by the British and sent to Palestine where I served under you. I was a sergeant and you placed me in charge of one of your laboratories. I will never forget your kindness to me and all the other Italian prisoners."

Since the war Dr. Ceppellini has progressed from a sergeant and a prisoner to being one of the foremost doctors of Italy. Like Dr.
Sheba, he too is a blood specialist and was greatly interested in Dr.
Sheba's plan to further search the blood traits of the Mediterranean.
The ex-war prisoner and his former captor will research togeth-

TAX LOOPHOLES

Members of the Ways and Means committee, trying to figure out what to do about cutting taxes, pricked up their ears as Paul Ziffren, Los Angeles Democratic National committeeman, told them:

"The only people who pay the full tax rate today are the conscientious or powerless."

Ziffren contended that executives who pay regular salaries and workers who are paid regular wages are subsidizing the Texas oilmen.

"The idea that we have a progressive rate of taxation is only a facade," Ziffren told them.
"Though our tax bracket goes way up, actually the effective tax rate averages only 28 per cent. This is because those in the upper brackets can avoid taxes through capital gains, through depletion allowances, and through state and local bond issues which are tax free. Even for those who make a million dollars or more per year, the average tax collection is only 50 per cent instead of around 90 per cent as it should be."

"In 1936," continued Ziffren,
"the personal income of the United States was $325 billion.
But the total tax collected on that was $32 1-2 billion—as a result of the loopholes in our tax laws."

Ziffren pointed out that all sorts of industries now have depletion allowances. The oyster and clam shell industries are permitted depletion allowances, just as the oil and coal industries. The oil depletion allowance started in 1918 with a 5 1-2 per cent allowance for one year. It was increased in 1927 up to 27 1-2 per cent, where it remains. Ziffren advocated a bipartisan committee to study taxes and produce equality in taxation. Congressmen Eberhardt of Pennsylvania, Mills and Arkansas, and King of California, Democrats, seemed to like the idea. Congressman Reed, Republican of New York author of the present tax bill which provides the loopholes, sat stolidly, said nothing.

Wedding Bells Breaking Up SIU Debate Team

CARBONDALE, Ill. — "Those wedding bells are breaking up that old gang of mine" is the doleful tune sung by Walter Murrish, coach of the Southern Illinois University debate team.

It all began in 1956 when Joe Selement of Du Quoin and Joan Vigeant of Saginaw, Mich., two of Murrish's best debaters, fell in love en route to a tournament and shortly afterward began debating on an extracurricular basis — in their own apartment.

Ted Foster and Sue Barker, of Mt. Vernon, promising newcomers the same year, met the same way with the same results. Ted is still dating—and is the squad's top winner—but Sue has long since withdrawn to devote more time to home and hearth.

Harold Allen and Nancy Clark, of Cairo, were the most promising newcomers in 1957, winning the intramural debate championship and boosting Murrish's expectations for the coming season. However, the last affirmative statement he heard them make was, "I do."

This year Murrish finds that his winningest twosome is a couple of Du Quoin coeds, Sophomore Regina Miller and Junior Marsha Wiehn. So experience taught him to stifle a gasp the other day when the announcement was made: Both girls plan to tie the knot this year, then will transfer to schools in New York and Ohio in order to be with their intendeds.

And who are the grooms-to-be?
Ex-debaters, of course. Marsha will marry Charles Gruner, Mur-rish's former assistant, and Regina will wed Richard Rieke, now an Ohio State University law student who teamed with Joe Selement to win eight debate championships for SIU last year.

To Study Design For Equipment for Crippled Children

CARBONDALE, Ill.—New directions in equipment design for crippled children will be explored by many of the nation's leading therapists, medical specialists, engineers and manufacturers at a three-day symposium on the Southern Illinois University campus March 20-22.

Sponsored by the SIU design department under a $5,000 grant from the Easter Seal Research Foundation, the institute will involve a "forum in the round" in which some 15 invited specialists will participate. Another 40 professional guests will be "observer participants," monitoring the sessions for future discussion and development. Chief aim of the Institute, according to Harold Cohen, chairman of the SIU design department and originator of the idea, will be to examine and evaluate existing equipment needs of crippled children as a means of finding out what areas of equipment research need more attention. Cohen said he hoped the Institute would also provide possible solutions to problems in individual and group equipment and in camp shelters for handicapped children.

Graduate Assistant Hideo Koike of Chicago and Research Assistant Herbert Meyer, design student from Okawville, are working with Cohen in planning the Institute, the first ever arranged to bring together specialists from all areas to grapple with problems of crippled children's equipment research and development.

In line with new concepts which stress "assistive" rather than "substitute" devices to replace muscle or nerve functions lost by the crippled, the conference roster will include many specialists in orthotics—a field centering around assistive equipment and treatment.

The grant to Cohen is the first of its kind the Easter Seal Research Foundation has ever awarded a designer. Few U. S. designers are now working on equipment for the crippled, primarily because each handicapped case is unique and standardizing a design for heavy production is virtually impossible. The problem of standardization and production will be one of the Institute's chief concerns.

William Gellman, director of the Easter Seal Research Foundation in Chicago, will attend as an observer, along with such other leading authorities and workers in the field as Col. Maurice Fletcher, director of the U. S. Army Prosthetics Research Laboratory at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, Anthony Staros, chief of the VA Prosthetics Center in New York City; Lillian Chabala, consultant in Physical Services to the American Physical Therapy Association, and some 35 others.

Short Course in Kiln Drying at SIU March 17-22

CARBONDALE, Ill. — A Kiln Drying Short Course for persons in the lumbering industry concerned with kiln operation and lumber seasoning will be sponsored March 17-22 by the Division of Technical and Adult Education at Southern Illinois University.

The short course will be offered at the Wood Products Pilot Plant at the SIU Southern Acres Campus 12 miles east of Carbondale, jointly operated by the University and the Carbondale Forest Research Center, U. S. Forest Service. Cooperating with SIU in the course are the University of Illinois, Iowa State College, and Michigan State University, each contributing to the instructional staff.

Harry B. Bauernfeind, SIU assistant dean for adult education, says the course is designed for kiln operators, supervisory personnel, and other persons in the woodworking industry who are concerned with modern kiln operation and other aspects of wood seasoning. In addition to lectures, the course will include actual laboratory operation of a dry kiln at the Pilot Plant and opportunity for class discussion on special seasoning problems.

PARIS FOR LUNCH

It may well be possible before too long, experts predict, for an American to have breakfast in his own home and enjoy luncheon at a French sidewalk cafe the same day. But even in this age of miracle-speed transportation, we predict, one thing will never be possible: For a person to be in two places at the same time. There's already a way, though, that Americans can make bank deposits when business elsewhere prevents their visiting the bank in person. It is to do their banking by mail!

Matter of FACT

The Lydians, a people of Asia Minor, were the first to use coined money. In the eighth century, B.C., they began to make pieces of metal money, uniform in weight and design, which could be easily recognized. Other peoples around the Mediterranean Sea imitated the Lydians, and gradually the use of coins spread.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Bobby Gene Raymer, who lost his life in a plane crash in Fort Worth, Tex., Feb. 28, 1953:

When the evening shades are falling,
And we are sitting alone,
In our hearts there comes a long ing.

If you only could come home,
We think of you in silence,
No eye can see us weep,
But many silent tears are shed

When others are asleep.
Sadly missed by mom and dad and brothers and sister. *205-1

Motorists Respond to Gov. Stratton's Request for Suggestions on Safety

By RAYMOND R. COFFEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
SPRINGFIELD — A man has written to Gov. Stratton suggesting that roads deliberately be made bumpy at the approaches to intersections as a safety measure.

The idea is not as wild as it might appear at first. In fact, it is sound enough that the Cook County highway department beat the man to it and is experimenting with the idea as a means of warning motorists they are approaching an intersection.

The suggestion for bumpy-intersection roads was in one of more than 60 letters Stratton has received since asking motorists about two weeks ago to help safety-check state and federal highways by writing to him to recommend improvements.

The governor said today the response to his appeal has been "excellent" and he asked motorists to keep the letters coming.

Every letter will be answered, a spokesman for the governor said, even one from a skeptic who added to his suggestion a note that "You'll probably never answer this."

Drivers Speak Out

The governor's idea is that motorists who travel certain highways regularly are in a good position to know what safety improvements might be made to reduce traffic accidents.

The letters are referred to the traffic safety division, which has set up a system for keeping track of the recommendations and what the state highway division does about them.

A spokesman for the governor said the letters have come from all parts of the state and "generally are along the lines we had hoped for, things that could be quickly accomplished such as changing traffic signs or clearing the motorist's field of vision."

Most of the letters so far have recommended removal of signs, bushes, weeds and other things that obscure vision, a traffic safety division spokesman said. Two of these letters involved intersections near Golconda and Winchester.

Signs, Dips, Repairs

Another letter reported that it might help to remove a "end no passing zone" sign on Ill. 13 south of Pinckneyville. A short distance beyond the sign, the letter said, there is a dip in the road that could hide a car and cause an accident for a motorist who headed the sign.

Another letter said the guard rails on Ill. 53 over the Chicago, Aurora & Elgin Railroad tracks in the northern part of the state were in bad repair.

A Peoria man suggested that a "no left turn" sign on War Memorial Drive might be better placed.

And a Champaign man suggested that stop-and-go lights be placed at all intersections of state and federal highways. The reply to this suggestion said that such a practice was not in keeping with recommended standards, and that rather than place signal lights, the goal was to eliminate such intersections with overpasses or underpasses.

A Bloomington motorist suggested that if three stop signs at street intersections on Ill. 9 near the Bloomington Country Club were replaced with "Yield Right of Way" signs, traffic approaching Ill. 9 "could more safely merge" with traffic on the highway.

In the Chicago area, a letter writer suggested that U. S. 41 would be much safer if the right-of-way along it was fenced in on both sides, as far as Gurnee, as it is on the Edens Expressway.

Maintains Balance

A vice president is not allowed to vote on measures before the Senate except in case of a tie, because to do so would disturb the principle of state equality. If he were given this right, his home state would have three votes as against two for the other states, because each state is represented by two senators.

Good Neighbor Club
Meets at Small Home

The Good Neighbor club held an all day meeting in the John C. Small-home Feb. 19. There were 17 members present and an absentee member, Mrs. Flossie Land, sent many quilt blocks to the club. Work was done on a "Friendship" pattern quilt and it will be quilted at the next meeting in the home of Mrs. L. L. Riegel. Some of the members quilted a quilt for the Bill Stevens household shower, Saturday.

The auction held Wednesday aided the club treasury and the club voted a donation to the Heart Fund drive. Sunshine gifts were exchanged according to custom at the February meeting. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson and Mrs. Bill McElrath, specially invited guests.

VOTERS --- FRIENDS

I am campaigning for the office of County Clerk of Saline County, seeking the Democratic nomination to that office at the April 8 primary. I am acquainted with a large number of the people of the county, but for the benefit of those who do not know me, am giving herewith a brief biography.

I was born in Harrisburg, the son of Mrs. Clara Hutchinson Cannon and the late Jesse Cannon, who was killed while working at Wasson 1 mine in 1939.

Charles (Buck) Cannon, owner of Midway Bar-B-Q is my brother. I have three sisters—Mrs. James (Mary) Hindmarsh; Mrs. Earl (Jane) Mings and Mrs. Grant (Norma) Mings.

I was graduated from the Harrisburg Township High school in 1933.

I was married in 1938 to the former Helen McGuire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harve McGuire of Harrisburg, and we have one son, Edwin, who is a student in the 7th grade at Harrisburg Junior High school.

I am a member of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church, where I am a deacon, a Sunday School teacher, and take an active part in other church activities.

For 14 years prior to my election to the office of County Treasurer of Saline county, I was Pepsi Cola distributor in this area.

In 1953 I was elected Assistant Supervisor of Harrisburg Township — the only Democrat Assistant Supervisor elected that year.

In making the race for County Treasurer, I stated that I believed the office was one with much responsibility and that service was to be rendered to many people. I stated that I felt I was capable and worthy of the position of trust.

I have endeavored in every honorable way to conduct the affairs of the County Treasurer's office as they should have been conducted. I feel that the office of County Clerk, which I now seek, is also a most responsible office, that I am capable of handling the duties, and hope that the voters will again give me an opportunity to prove myself in that office.

If elected I WILL BE IN THE OFFICE, seeing to it that each of you receive the same courteous respect.

I am running on the record of my past and present life, and on that basis solicit, and will appreciate your vote.

Columbia Film President Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The film industry was in mourning today for Columbia Pictures President Harry Cohn.

His death wrote a Cinemasized "The End" to an era which saw the 66-year-old starmaker the last of the one-man studio rulers.

Cohn's body will be flown to Los Angeles today from Phoenix, Ariz., where he was stricken with a heart attack and died en route to St. Joseph's Hospital. Cohn's wife, Joan, was at his bedside in the Arizona Biltmore Hotel where he was stricken.

Cohn, who was born on New York's East Side, had interrupted his desert vacation Tuesday to fly here. He attended funeral services for L. K. Sidney, director George Sidney's father, and returned to Phoenix the same day.

Whether Cohn was an "iron-fisted Caesar" or a dedicated, inspired film genius, his keen eye for talent and thorough publicity methods made stars of such persons as Clark Gable, Rita Hayworth, Jean Arthur, Claudette Colbert, Jean Harlow, Carole Lombard, Cary Grant, and most recently, Kim Novak.

Mr. Dalton is the son of Mrs. Lewis Dalton and the late Lewis Dalton.

He was graduated in 1953 from the Harrisburg Township High school, where he played on the basketball and football teams, rating South Seven Championship in basketball in 1953 and in football in 1952.

After two years in military service, he entered Southern Illinois University in 1956 and was a Physical Education Major for one and a half years there. He accepted his present position on Jan. 15, 1958.

His wife is the former Connie Beth Ingram and they live in Harrisburg. They are members of the First Baptist church.

Mr. Dalton cordially invites all his friends to see him at the Bowman Tire Mart.

Presidential Action Halts Airlines Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — A strike against Eastern and United Airlines set for Sunday was temporarily averted today by Presidential action.

The President Thursday set up a special fact-finding board in the case. Naming of the board prevents a strike for 60 days.

The International Assn. of Machinists (AFL-CIO) planned a walkout against Eastern and United. According to the White House the union planned to take similar action later against Trans World, Northwest, Northeast, Capital and National Airlines.

The President's order was based on the Railway Labor Act. Members of the three-man fact-finding board will be named later.

Negotiations were broken off between the union and airlines. Frank Heisler, airline coordinator for the machinists, said the union is asking wage increases ranging from 29 to 49 cents an hour.

Recall Air Chief In Philippines For High Living

MANILA (AP) — The recall of the top U. S. Air Force commander in the Philippines for living too luxuriously at government expense shocked official American and Philippine quarters today.

Some said the Pentagon may have been guilty of "poor judgment" itself in relieving Maj. Gen. John B. Ackerman of his post as commander of the 13th Air Force. Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, ordered Ackerman to return to Washington for a hearing March 5. Ackerman left by plane early today.

No formal charges were leveled against Ackerman, 48. But an Air Force spokesman in Washington said he used "poor judgment" by his extravagant living.

The spokesman said Ackerman spent "several thousand dollars" in Air Force funds to furnish four separate houses for himself and family during his two-year assignment in the Philippines.

Ackerman was probably the most popular American officer in the Philippines. Quiet and intense, he made many friends.

The general, a native of New York, helped put the first Filipino jet squadron into operational status, and tightened security and discipline at the sprawling Clark Air Force Base outside Manila.

He also checked the flood of Post Exchange items into the Filipino black market and cut down on the incidents between American airmen and Filipino civilians at the base town of Angeles.

GOP Group Blasts Benson Critics; Secretary Denies He Is Liability

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of Republican congressmen today labeled critics of Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson "ignoramus" who will live to see his policies vindicated.

The counterattack by Benson supporters was the strongest in many months. It came after President Eisenhower reiterated his backing for his embattled farm chief and Benson himself denied he was a political liability to midwestern Republicans.

Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo.) told the House the Secretary's critics are "ignoramus" and don't even want to know about the economics of the farm problem. He said Benson's "solutions may not work but at least he is leading from knowledge in trying to solve the problem."

Rep. Charles M. Teague (R-Calif.) said Benson was trying to put the farm program on a sound economic basis—"God bless him and more power to him." Rep. Henry A. Dixon (R-Utah) promised, "We'll live to see the day when Benson's policies will be vindicated."

Will Keep Trying

Backing for the embattled secretary also came from GOP Reps. Perkins Bass (N.H.), Harold R. Collier (Ill.), Stuyvesant Wainwright (N.Y.) and John E. Henderson (Ohio).

They spoke out after Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa), one of about 40 anti-Benson midwestern Republican lawmakers, said Benson had outlived his usefulness. Gross also said the President should take time out "on his next quail-shooting and golfing trip to acquaint himself with what's happening in agriculture."

But there appeared to be little chance Benson's foes could bring about his ouster.

Reps. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.) and Phil Weaver (R-Neb.) said they would keep trying even though President Eisenhower turned down their demands during a White House conference Thursday. They said they hoped meetings with "additional groups" still might change the President's mind about his farm chief.

At a news conference Thursday, Benson disputed predictions that his presence in the Cabinet would cost the GOP up to 30 House seats in the fall elections. In fact, he claimed any Republican who runs on his farm policies will win "because they are sound and fair policies."

Blizzard Hits Plains States; Rains in East

By United Press

One of the worst Midwest blizzards of the winter raged with undiminished intensity today, stopping traffic in its tracks and virtually isolating communities in parts of Nebraska, Kansas and the Dakotas.

The massive storm system also sent drenching rains cascading across sections of the East Coast, accompanied by hail and high winds. Weathermen said one deluge dumped an inch of rain at Raleigh, N. C., in a period of minutes Thursday night.

The Midwest blizzard began Thursday afternoon and was not expected to ease off until tonight. Frigid northern winds of up to 60 miles an hour piled the snow into deep drifts and cut visibility to zero in swirling snow.

HEARING ON KOHLER STRIKE CONTINUES—Herman Miesfeld, a Kohler company employee appears before the Senate Labor Rackets committee as it continues its investigation of the marathon strike at the Kohler plant. He said that he joined the United Auto Workers union after strikers told him to "sign up or get beat up." (NEA Telephoto)

Kohler Police Chief Tells of Expanding Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — Waldemar Capelle, police chief of Kohler, Wis., said today he added more than 40 Kohler Co. employees to his force as special officers when the United Auto Workers organized the plant in 1952.

He said the recruits trained with submachine guns and tear gas guns on the company's rifle range. Once the UAW strike started, he said, he put 45 more Kohler men on his force as special policemen.

But Capelle told the Senate Rackets Committee it was not his purpose in augmenting his regular four-man force to set up a strike-breaking force.

He was not asked directly about charges by UAW President Walter P. Reuther that the Kohler Co. armed and trained a private "army" under the guise of a civil defense program.

The committee is investigating violence in the early days of the strike, which began in April, 1954. Capelle said he began recruiting his special police force two years earlier when employees of the plumbing fixtures plant voted to join the UAW.

Under questioning by Robert F. Kennedy, the committee counsel, Capelle said he organized a humane society in Kohler village and said that prevention of cruelty to animals was not the only reason.

He said as head of the society he also became a state officer appointed by the governor. He said the village attorney advised him that this would lend extra legal "protection" for having gas guns and submachine guns.

He said there had been "quite a to-do" in the village over these weapons.

Sales promotions and better weather helped consumer buying this week rise noticeably over last week but volume remained below a year ago. Dun & Bradstreet reported. Men's and women's apparel and some household goods were strong spots. New passenger car sales improved from the previous week, but were again below a year ago.

Anaconda Co. directors again cut the dividend, dropping it to 50 cents from 75 cents last December and $1 each in the first three quarters of 1957. Chile Copper Co., controlled by Anaconda, followed the Anaconda pattern by lowering its dividend to 50 cents. The cuts come in the wake of further weakness in copper prices.

American Tobacco Co., the nation's largest cigarette manufacturer, reported new highs in 1957 sales and earnings. Dollar sales rose to $1,098,092,746 from $1,091,206,358 in 1956, while net profits rose 10 per cent to $57,094,650.

Contractor for U. I. Men's Hall Asks Federal Intervention in Dispute

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—The general contractor for a men's residence hall on the University of Illinois campus today sought federal intervention in a labor dispute which has stopped work on the building.

The residence hall and a new biology building also under construction were picked Wednesday by Local 97 of the Roofers Union here, in the course of a strike against local roofing contractors.

A spokesman for Felmeij-Dickerson Co., contractor for the residence hall, said no roofing work was in progress on the buildings, and an unfair labor practice charge has been filed with the National Labor Relations Board.

Stassen Says NATO Allies Would Go Along with Nuclear Test Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold E. Stassen took sharp issue today with President Eisenhower's position that some NATO Allies would not go along now with first-step disarmament agreement keyed to a temporary ban on nuclear bomb tests.

The former White House disarmament adviser told the Senate Disarmament subcommittee:

"I am still quite certain that the NATO nations would support that first step and that it becomes one of the most important items on foreign policy at the moment."

Stassen said the agreement he proposes, calling for a two-year ban on nuclear tests by the United States and Russia, would not necessarily keep Britain and France from going ahead with their own tests if they chose.

The important thing, he said, is a temporary cessation of testing by Russia and the United States.

Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday that it might be hard to get some North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations to go along with Stassen's proposal.

Stassen, who resigned after a dispute with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles over disarmament policies to seek the Republican nomination for governor in Pennsylvania, was the first witness at subcommittee hearings on curbing armaments.

Dulles, with Eisenhower's approval, has reorganized the disarmament negotiating team in the wake of Stassen's departure.

Thursday, the department appointed Ambassador James J. Wadsworth chief U. S. negotiator in any future disarmament talks with the Soviet Union.

The reorganization also set up a four-man citizen advisory panel. Both Wadsworth and the panel members will report directly to Dulles. Stassen, who recently resigned, reported to the President. The new citizens panel will include Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, former North Atlantic Treaty commander and now head of the American Red Cross; former Secretary of Defense and Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett; John J. McCloy, former U. S. high commissioner to Germany; and Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, former undersecretary of state, chief of central intelligence and ambassador to Moscow.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced Thursday that Russia had exploded two giant nuclear weapons — both in the megaton range, equivalent in power to one million tons of TNT. It said this "brought to three the number of Soviet large-yield nuclear explosions in the past five days."

Heat causes brake wear—
Heat causes brake fade—but Aluminum keeps Buick brakes cool

YOU BUILD up a lot of brake heat when you press hard on the brake pedal again—and again—and again.

But Buick brakes get rid of heat—because they're air-cooled aluminum brakes.

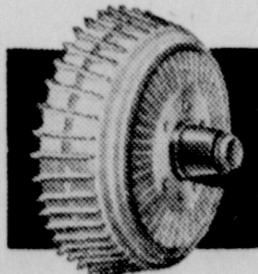

That's why SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED Magazine found them "a 100% improvement over conventional Detroit brakes."

That's why N.A.S.C.A.R.—in a test of 1958 cars—rated Buick brakes phenomenal. The Buick CENTURY made 176 emergency-stops from 60 mph at Daytona Beach—and there was still plenty of braking left. No other car's brakes even came close to the phenomenal performance of these air-cooled aluminum front brakes—standard on every CENTURY, SUPER, ROADMASTER 75 and LIMITED, optional at extra cost on every SPECIAL.

So if you want brake power that matches horsepower you'd better buy Buick.

Regional Tourney Tickets On Sale At HTHS Monday

Harrisburg High School Principal Ellis Henson today revealed that tickets to the regional basketball tournament at Eldorado would be put on sale at the school Monday morning.

Mr. Henson said there would be available a few season reserved chairs at $4 each, a few reserved chairs for the Wednesday night session, when Harrisburg plays, at $1 each, and a lot of general admission tickets at 75 cents a session for adults and 60 cents for students.

Local season ticket holders will get first choice at the limited number of chair seats, he stated.

Schoendienst, Mickey Mantle and Sievers End Holdouts, Sign Contracts

By United Press

Red Schoendienst's sudden signing, coupled with a warning that the Milwaukee front office will stand firm against its holdouts, put heavy pressure today on the Braves' nine remaining dissatisfied players.

Schoendienst, key man on the Braves' infield, agreed to terms in a long-distance telephone conversation with General Manager John Quinn. He is believed to have won a $40,000 after a season in which he hit .309, walked 15 homers and drove in 65 runs.

Schoendienst's signing was the third "big one" of the day. Earlier, Mickey Mantle got his $75,000 from the New York Yankees and Roy Sievers his $36,000 from the Washington Senators.

It also followed only a few hours after Braves' President Joseph F. Cairnes warned many Braves "are asking a lot more than they're worth."

Long Holdout List

Lew Burdette, the World Series hero, tops the holdout list which also includes pitchers Bob Buhl, Gene Conley and Don McMahon; infielders Frank Torre, Johnny Logan and Felix Mantilla, and outfielders Wes Covington and Bob Hazle.

"Trouble is the players are using the world championship as a talking point," said Cairnes. "Of course, Burdette won three games in the World Series. But a lot of people forget he didn't have as good a regular-season record in 1957 as he did in 1956."

Cairnes said he wouldn't interfere with General Manager John Quinn's negotiations but added: "We feel they already have been compensated for the World Series by those $8,900 Series checks."

Mantle became the third highest-paid player in the Yankees' history while Sievers' $36,000 pact set a new standard for a Washington manager or player.

Mantle beat the Yankees' holdout deadline by about a half hour when he dropped in on Personnel Director Lee MacPhail Thursday morning. Two minutes later the 26-year-old two-time Most Valuable Player was signed and en route to practice.

Yardley Nears Mikan Record

By United Press

George Yardley, the balding sharpshooter who helps build guidel missiles during the off season, now has George Mikan's one-season professional basketball scoring record within range of his big guns.

Yardley, the Detroit Pistons' league-leading point maker, racked up 41 tallies Thursday night in leading Detroit to a 112-109 victory over the Minneapolis Lakers at Philadelphia. The win gave the Pistons a 1-1-2 game grip on second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

In the only other game Thursday, the Philadelphia Warriors moved within two games of second place in the Eastern Division by beating Syracuse, 97-91.

Dixie Walker Jr. Signs Bonus Contract with St. Louis Cardinals

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Fred (Dixie) Walker Jr., who turned some advice from his "teammate" dad and some below-freezing pitching into bonus gold, flies to Florida tonight to join the St. Louis Cardinals.

Walker is the son of Fred (Dixie) Walker, former Brooklyn Dodger star and now manager of the Toronto club of the International League.

Young Walker signed a $25,000 bonus contract with the Cardinals Thursday after a baseball scout's "open house" and some lessons from Milwaukee pitching coach Whit Wyatt.

Walker, who pitched for the University of Alabama as a sophomore, paraded his wares before scouts from "about 8 to 10 clubs" during recent weeks, "about five of whom made offers."

The 21-year-old 6-footer would go to a nearby ballpark and display his right arm for the scouts when they arrived in town. Portions of this performance were in some of Alabama's coldest weather in history.

"One day we had to clear ice, mud and snow off the pitcher's mound," dad Dixie related. "But I guess it was worth it."

St. Louis scout Fred Hahn and Mercer Harris of the Cardinals looked over the youth and were impressed "with the tremendous improvement he showed over last year," the elder Walker said.

"I took him to Wyatt last fall—you know we were together at Atlanta and on the Brooklyn Dodgers—and he worked with Fred for about 35 to 40 minutes."

"I took him back again this spring and Wyatt spent about half an hour with him. He is greatly improved in his curve and in his control, both of which Wyatt helped him with."

"Dixie" is dad Walker's nick name, but it's part of young Walker's given name.

DOUBLE STAR—Roger Council, Southern Illinois University senior from Wood River, is competing in two sports during the same season and winning at both. He is undefeated in diving this year and last week was the outstanding performer as SIU's gymnastic team defeated the University of Wisconsin and Indiana University in double dual meets. Council ran up the highest average of the day by winning first in the trampoline and a second and a fourth in tumbling. A standout pole vaulter and already a winner of nine varsity letters, Council had no training in swimming or gymnastics before coming to Southern. (SIU Photo Service)

The first Greek letter fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa, was founded in 1776 at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Va., as a social club. There was a ritual with secret vows, a motto, a grip and a badge. Between 1820 and 1883 Phi Beta Kappa changed its character to that of an honor society and admitted as members scholars of high standing. In 1875 it began admitting women.

Calufetti Quits Coaching Duties

Lawrence Calufetti last night resigned his coaching duties to the Harrisburg Township high school board of education.

"I have decided to resign my coaching duties and devote more time to the teaching of physical education," Mr. Calufetti said this morning. "Reason I submitted my resignation is that I have failed to reach my objectives in coaching."

Mr. Calufetti, a native of Johnston City, came here in 1948 as an assistant coach in football, basketball and baseball. For the past four years he has been head football coach. He also was head track coach for five years and was head baseball coach for three years prior to the past season.

He also was head basketball coach during parts of two seasons and had served as athletic director.
